

Amazon Fine Food Reviews Analysis

Data Source: <https://www.kaggle.com/snap/amazon-fine-food-reviews>

EDA: <https://nycdatascience.com/blog/student-works/amazon-fine-foods-visualization/>

The Amazon Fine Food Reviews dataset consists of reviews of fine foods from Amazon.

Number of reviews: 568,454

Number of users: 256,059

Number of products: 74,258

Timespan: Oct 1999 - Oct 2012

Number of Attributes/Columns in data: 10

Attribute Information:

1. Id
2. ProductId - unique identifier for the product
3. UserId - unique identifier for the user
4. ProfileName
5. HelpfulnessNumerator - number of users who found the review helpful
6. HelpfulnessDenominator - number of users who indicated whether they found the review helpful or not
7. Score - rating between 1 and 5
8. Time - timestamp for the review
9. Summary - brief summary of the review
10. Text - text of the review

Objective:

Given a review, determine whether the review is positive (Rating of 4 or 5) or negative (rating of 1 or 2).

[Q] How to determine if a review is positive or negative?

[Ans] We could use the Score/Rating. A rating of 4 or 5 could be considered a positive review. A review of 1 or 2 could be considered negative. A review of 3 is neutral and ignored. This is an approximate and proxy way of determining the polarity (positivity/negativity) of a review.

Loading the data

The dataset is available in two forms

1. .csv file
2. SQLite Database

In order to load the data, We have used the SQLITE dataset as it is easier to query the data and visualise the data efficiently.

Here as we only want to get the global sentiment of the recommendations (positive or negative), we will purposefully ignore all Scores equal to 3. If the score is above 3, then the recommendation will be set to "positive". Otherwise, it will be set to "negative".

Exploratory Data Analysis

[2] Data Cleaning: Deduplication

It is observed (as shown in the table below) that the reviews data had many duplicate entries. Hence it was necessary to remove duplicates in order to get unbiased results for the analysis of the data. Following is an example:

In [9]:

```
display= pd.read_sql_query("""
SELECT *
FROM Reviews
WHERE Score != 3 AND UserId="AR5J8UI46CURR"
ORDER BY ProductID
""", con)
display.head()
```

Out[9]:

	Id	ProductId	UserId	ProfileName	HelpfulnessNumerator	HelpfulnessDenominator	Score	Time	Summ
0	78445	B000HDL1RQ	AR5J8UI46CURR	Geetha Krishnan	2	2	5	1199577600	LOACH QUADRA VANII WAFE
1	138317	B000HDOPYC	AR5J8UI46CURR	Geetha Krishnan	2	2	5	1199577600	LOACH QUADRA VANII WAFE
2	138277	B000HDOPYM	AR5J8UI46CURR	Geetha Krishnan	2	2	5	1199577600	LOACH QUADRA VANII WAFE

	Id	ProductId	UserId	ProfileName	HelpfulnessNumerator	HelpfulnessDenominator	Score	Time	Summary
3	73791	B000HDOPZG	AR5J8UI46CURR	Geetha Krishnan	2	2	5	1199577600	QUADRATINI VANILLA WAFER COOKIES
4	155049	B000PAQ75C	AR5J8UI46CURR	Geetha Krishnan	2	2	5	1199577600	QUADRATINI LEMON WAFER COOKIES

As can be seen above the same user has multiple reviews of the with the same values for HelpfulnessNumerator, HelpfulnessDenominator, Score, Time, Summary and Text and on doing analysis it was found that

ProductId=B000HDOPZG was Loacker Quadratini Vanilla Wafer Cookies, 8.82-Ounce Packages (Pack of 8)

ProductId=B000HDL1RQ was Loacker Quadratini Lemon Wafer Cookies, 8.82-Ounce Packages (Pack of 8) and so on

It was inferred after analysis that reviews with same parameters other than ProductId belonged to the same product just having different flavour or quantity. Hence in order to reduce redundancy it was decided to eliminate the rows having same parameters.

The method used for the same was that we first sort the data according to ProductId and then just keep the first similar product review and delete the others. for eg. in the above just the review for ProductId=B000HDL1RQ remains. This method ensures that there is only one representative for each product and deduplication without sorting would lead to possibility of different representatives still existing for the same product.

In [10]:

#Sorting data according to ProductId in ascending order
sorted_data=filtered_data.sort_values('ProductId', axis=0, ascending=True, inplace=False, kind='quicksort', na_position='last')

In [11]:

#Deduplication of entries
final=sorted_data.drop_duplicates(subset={"UserId","ProfileName","Time","Text"}, keep='first', inplace=False)
final.shape

Out[11]:

(4986, 10)

In [12]:

```
#Checking to see how much % of data still remains
(final['Id'].size*1.0)/(filtered_data['Id'].size*1.0)*100
```

Out[12]:

99.72

Observation:- It was also seen that in two rows given below the value of HelpfulnessNumerator is greater than HelpfulnessDenominator which is not practically possible hence these two rows too are removed from calculations

In [13]:

```
display= pd.read_sql_query("""
SELECT *
FROM Reviews
WHERE Score != 3 AND Id=44737 OR Id=64422
ORDER BY ProductID
""", con)

display.head()

[3]. Text Preprocessing.

Now that we have finished deduplication our data requires some preprocessing before we go on further with analysis and making the prediction model.

Hence in the Preprocessing phase we do the following in the order below:-

1. Begin by removing the html tags
2. Remove any punctuations or limited set of special characters like , or . or # etc.
3. Check if the word is made up of english letters and is not alpha-numeric
4. Check to see if the length of the word is greater than 2 (as it was researched that there is no adjective in 2-letters)
5. Convert the word to lowercase
6. Remove Stopwords
7. Finally Snowball Stemming the word (it was observed to be better than Porter Stemming)

After which we collect the words used to describe positive and negative reviews

In [16]:

```
printing some random reviews
sent_0 = final['Text'].values[0]
print(sent_0)
print("="*50)

sent_1000 = final['Text'].values[1000]
print(sent_1000)
print("="*50)

sent_1500 = final['Text'].values[1500]
print(sent_1500)
print("="*50)

sent_4900 = final['Text'].values[4900]
print(sent_4900)
print("="*50)

I recently tried this flavor/brand and was surprised at how delicious these chips are. The best thing was that there were a lot of "brown" chips in the bsg (my favorite), so I bought some more through amazon and shared with family and friends. I am a little disappointed that there are not, so far, very many brown chips in these bags, but the flavor is still very good. I like them better than the yogurt and green onion flavor because they do not seem to be as salty, and the onion flavor is better. If you haven't eaten Kettle chips before, I recommend that you try a bag before buying bulk. They are thicker and crunchier than Lays but just as fresh out of the bag.

Wow. So far, two two-star reviews. One obviously had no idea what they were ordering; the other wants crispy cookies. Hey, I'm sorry; but these reviews do nobody any good beyond reminding us to look before ordering.

These are chocolate-oatmeal cookies. If you don't like that combination, don't order this type of cookie. I find the combo quite nice, really. The oatmeal sort of "calms" the rich chocolate flavor and gives the cookie sort of a coconut-type consistency. Now let's also remember that tastes differ; so, I've given my opinion.

Then, these are soft, chewy cookies -- as advertised. They are not "crispy" cookies, or the blurb would say "crispy," rather than "chewy." I happen to like raw cookie dough; however, I don't see where these taste like raw cookie dough. Both are soft, however, so is this the confusion? And, yes, they stick together. Soft cookies tend to do that. They aren't individually wrapped, which would add to the cost. Oh yeah, chocolate chip cookies tend to be somewhat sweet.

So, if you want something hard and crisp, I suggest Nabisco's Ginger Snaps. If you want a cookie that's soft, chewy and tastes like a combination of chocolate and oatmeal, give these a try. I'm here to place my second order.

I love to order my coffee on amazon. easy and shows up quickly.

[5] Applying TSNE

1. you need to plot 4 tsne plots with each of these feature set
 - A. Review text, preprocessed one converted into vectors using (BOW)
 - B. Review text, preprocessed one converted into vectors using (TFIDF)
 - C. Review text, preprocessed one converted into vectors using (AVG W2v)
 - D. Review text, preprocessed one converted into vectors using (TFIDF W2v)
2. Note 1: The TSNE accepts only dense matrices
3. Note 2: Consider only 5k to 6k data points

After applying bag of words on the amazon fine food review dataset, it is clear that the data points cannot be separated easily ie. t-SNE is Unable to sperate the data points in the case of BOW representation mainly beacuse of large size of BOW vector and ignoration of meanings of words. In all the graphs , 0 ie. bluw points are the representation of negative points and 1(orange points) are representation of positive points.

In case of TF_IDf vectors, data points are not separated very well probably because of lot of overlapping between the occurrence of words for both postive and negative reviews

In case of Average Word to Vectors (W2V) technique, we have different kind of separation but even in this view, data is hugely overlapped and can't be separated easily

Even when applying t-SNE on TFIDF weighted W2V, data points are not well separated but this approach seems to be better than the previous discussed techniques, mainly because of the way they assign weights to the most frequently occurring words.

[6] Conclusions

Write few sentence about the results that you got and observation that you did from the analysis

- t-SNE is an excellent technique for dimensionality reduction.
- we can't separate data points using t-SNE and drawing planes
- avg W2V and TFIDF W2V are more promising techniques for this particular dataset than the Bag of Words and TFIDF.
